

OUR STORY Robert Redford founded the Institute in 1981 to foster independence, risk-taking, and new voices in American film. That year, ten emerging filmmakers were invited to Sundance Resort in the mountains of Utah, where they worked with leading writers, directors, and actors to develop their original independent projects.

TODAY the Institute supports storytellers working in film, theatre, film music, new media, episodic storytelling, and more. Many of today's most creative and daring artists are counted among the 10,627 Institute alumni. Each year the Sundance Film Festival introduces groundbreaking new work and emerging talent to a global audience. And a host of public programs connect artists with audiences to share fresh voices and inspire new ideas throughout the year.
